Person-In-Environment System:

The PIE Classification System for Social Functioning Problems

James M. Karls and Karin E. Wandrei, Editors

The person-in-environment (PIE) classification system is an internationally recognized tool that many believe will soon become the profession's universal standard, as a complement to the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders.

Person-in-Environment System: The PIE Classification System for Social Functioning Problems is designed to help clinicians understand clients who are experiencing difficulties with their roles, self-perceptions, and expectations in their interactions with others and in the context of their environments.

Also available—the PIE Manual, which lists the descriptions, classifications, and codes used in PIE and includes case examples to help familiarize readers with the PIE system.

Both are valuable resources for social work practitioners, students, administrators, researchers, and educators, as well as social policymakers and community organizers.
